ANNA DICKINSON. On Thursday evening, the 8th inst., Miss Dickinson, a young lady of this city, who appeared in this city at Tucker Hall, Her subject "Joan of Arc" is spoken of so highly by the Richmond (Va.) press that we feel warranted in announcing to our citizens to assemble in force to hear her. The Richmond Dispatch is slow to praise, but we make the following extract from its comments on Miss Dickinson's appearance in that city:

"Miss Dickinson is not an advocate of woman's rights. She cannot be accused fairly of advocating any such thing."
"It is true she is a politician; it is true that she advocated the abolition of slavery; and it is equally true that she stumped North in the last Presidential campaign against Grant, and to-day opposes the iniquities of the Civil Rights bill. Her mission to the South is not that of a missionary, but of a politician. This her avowed last night; and can it be doubted when it comes from the lips of a woman whose every word has been as checked and as guarded as the most fastidious in our midst could desire."

"Anna Dickinson is beyond all doubt a pure-minded woman, and the record of her good deeds—which are nowhere disputed—attest the truth of this assertion. She is modest, retiring and graceful in her manner, and yet a striking-looking lady; and whatever may be her political feelings, which possess her heart, there are many good traits in her character which are stamped upon her face, and which show that she is not a thoughtless girl, as she is often represented to be."

"On the evening of her first lecture she wore a black silk dress with a Yal-lake over dress. Her hair, which is black, was cut short, and curled hanging prettily about her graceful face. She had on a pair of gold chains, to which was attached a single gold cross. Upon her left hand she wore two beautiful diamond rings, which sparkled and attracted the eyes of her audience, even if her personal appearance did not."

A CHARITABLE ACT AND ITS RE-SULTS.—A contemporary thus truthfully portrays the work of an editor:
"The good-natured editor, having had a good night's rest and a good cup of coffee for his breakfast, came to his office in the morning and says:
'I'll do at least one good and charitable act to-day.' Forthwith he picks up a bundle of papers, and the ablest man in the office northward toward the great city, and there he stops; but it is enough.
The street takes John up, and he is put on the 'abject man,' the ablest man in the press everywhere clips the paragraph and reproduces it, and the editor's exchange comes pouring in upon him with it, and his 'abject man' is a made man. This is greatness manufactured and the world filled with mediocrity through the good nature and good breakfast of a man who plods and unknown journalist, who has perhaps never seen 'John Smith,' and never will see him, or he should never meet the man who has just written the paragraph which he would pass him by unnoticed, with a lofty contempt for the very insignificant and vulgar source of his success. This is the way, however, we thrust our good deeds into the hands of the unworthy and the worthy alike."

THE PRESS CONVENTION.—The State Press Association will meet in Wilmington on the 15th inst. The meeting will be held in the city during the week of May 15th to 20th. The association will consist of all the editors of the newspapers of the State. The convention will be held in the city during the week of May 15th to 20th. The association will consist of all the editors of the newspapers of the State.

PERSONALS.—The following answers to correspondents convey much general information: Durham.—No fencing or boxing match here.

Wake County, N. C.—You can buy the 200 acres of land. Price depends on locality, improvements, etc., but you cannot get twenty cents to learn farming—too much work and too little money.

Wilmington.—The Usury bill has now become a law, and our banks are fully obeying its requirements. If you are rapidly increasing in wealth, as most of you are, it is best to be as best it can, as there is now no remedy for it.

Baltimore, Canada.—Yes sir, Raleigh is rapidly increasing in wealth, as most of you are, it is best to be as best it can, as there is now no remedy for it.

The Rev. Dr. Thos. E. Kinney, who has been appointed to the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in this city for some weeks, left yesterday evening for his new home. He was stationed here for many years, being a native of this State, and many of his friends here hope he may be called to the pastorate of the new Church which is to be built.

INFANTICIDE.—A case of infanticide has just come to light near Hillsboro. A young negro woman and her mother, living on the premises of Major Geo. Collins, the son-in-law of Mr. Paul Cameron, were the guilty parties. The Southern of yesterday evening gives the following particulars of this crime:
"A young negro woman was found in her cabin, her neck tied with a rope to the bed post, and the only words she said were, 'Take me out quick, or mammy will kill me.' She died soon after she was removed, but her death is thought to have occurred from the effects of childbirth taken from strangulation. Major Collins immediately had search made to find the child, the woman's mother declaring that he had been no child, and there was no one looking for it. A barrel of ashes stood at the door with a hen's nest on top and three eggs in the nest, and as the party approached it the old negro woman singing out, 'Come away from my hen's nest, don't bother along with it!' and this excited their suspicion and they searched in the ashes for the child, and there was no one looking
